We have designed and fabricated an accelerometer that is completely implantable in the oral cavity and is capable of detecting breathing events. Unlike previous implantable devices, our accelerometer does not require any external components to be attached to the patient, which simplifies the procedure of implantation. The accelerometer has been tested on ten patients, who completed polysomnography testing with simultaneous pressure and airflow measurements. The accelerometer was successfully implanted in all patients, who also experienced very little discomfort in the mouth. The largest sensed accelerations were found to be due to swallowing, followed by the patient's tongue motion, the chewing muscles, and heartbeats. The breath detection rate was found to be 91.8 +/- 5.4% for the 10 patients. The sensitivity, specificity, and detection time of the accelerometer are 26.1 +/- 4.5 microg/mm2, 91.2 +/- 3.7%, and 16.3 +/- 0.9 s, respectively. The results obtained with the implantable accelerometer are very close to the normal level of accuracy of standard polysomnography devices.Q: Why is $1+\frac{1}{2}+\frac{1}{3}+\frac{1}{4}+\dots=\frac{\pi}{4}$? Why is $1+\frac{1}{2}+\frac{1}{3}+\frac{1}{4}+\dots=\frac{\pi}{4}$? I was never taught this in my degree. I'm told its easy and was wondering why. Thanks! A: Let $S = 1+\frac{1}{2}+\frac{1}{3}+\frac{1}{4}+\dots$. Then, by the addition formula for the series $\sum_{k=1}^{\infty} a_k$, we have $S = \sum_{k=1}^{\infty} \left(\frac{a_k}{k} + \frac{a_{k-1}}{k-1} + \frac{a_{k-2}}{k-2} + \dots \right)$
